Our Community Guild met at the home of J. G. Clark on the evening of the 15th. The evening opened by a few songs after which the minutes of the last meeting were read and other matters of business looked after. Several new members signed the "membership roll" which shows the interest that is being taken in the Guild. After the matters of business were freely discussed a social time was spent during which lunch was served. The next meeting will be held in the basement of the church at 8 o'clock sharp. Everyone is requested to be present. The topic chosen for the evening is "A Night in Europe."

Come one and all and help make the evening beneficial as well as social, at 8 o'clock sharp.

The anniversary social will be held on Friday evening. A supper will be served in the church basement and beginning at 6 o'clock and all are asked to come and enjoy a good supper and social evening. A statement of the church's position will be given and opportunity to contribute financially will be allowed. Everyone is invited.

SOME MIX-UP WE'LL SAY

On Wednesday evening last the manager of the Co-op ordered six stock cars for Friday and after most of the cattle were in the yards our government railway notified the company that they could not supply the cars after various efforts to secure the service expected. Box cars were supplied for shipment to Edmonton and Mr. Peterson got away Saturday eve for that city. The price realized was better than expected so that matters worked out somewhat fair after all. The people of this district are certainly up against it because of the price of grain and lack of reasonable service on the part of the railway. Our local agent, Mr. Whyte, does his best to help out at all times but must be seriously handicapped under existing conditions.

He unsnapped the dog's chain and Joe sprang up and left a wet carcase on the man's shirt. Then with a low whistle of welcome he bounded away.

"Get down, Joe, you good-for-nothing dog, get down," commanded a voice, and McTavish turned to see Mrs. Ross and Mary Ann coming up the path.

"Good-morning, good-morning," he shouted. "Well, well now, but you two are early visitors. Isn't it a grand morning? Come up to the house—the little man'll be glad to see you both."

"How is she today?" Mrs. Ross, rather out of breath from fighting off Joe, set her basket down on the grass and leaned against a tree.

"If I can't say she's any stronger, widder."

"Verily, all flesh is as grass," sighed the good woman, shaking her head dolefully.

The man glanced at her quizzically. "Ma is quoting verily," explained Mary Ann. "She says we all should work according to some text in the Bible."

"That godly man, Mr. Smythe, has taught me much, Daniel," proclaimed the widow, stooping for her basket. "Not sayin' but what I disbelieve that flesh was anythin' like grass till Mr. Smythe pointed out them very words in Luke's gospel to me, Mrs. Ross."

"But it's wonderful things the good Book teaches us."

McTavish looked at Mary Ann. The girl was smiling and her black eyes were dancing with more than the zest of life. He took the basket from the woman's hand and they passed up the path toward the house.

"I can't just understand what's wrong with me," said McTavish. "She don't seem to suffer any, just grows weaker day by day. She's too weak to be carried a long distance to see a doctor, and it's too far to know for a doctor to come. I wish I knew what to do."

Mary Ann laid her hand on his arm. "Why not let old Betty to come and see her?" she suggested.

"Mary Ann!" The widow stood still on the path and eyed her daughter sternly. "Are we cannibals of the disheartened and to allow our appetitions rubbage to tangle our ways? What does the good Book say about witchcraft and sorcery? It's in the cup and stineth like a snake in the grass?"

"You're thinkin' of the vtrse-as-cannibals man against strong drink, widder," corrected McTavish kindly. "Look not upon the wine when it is red."

"Do you know?" he went on slowly. "I've been thinkin' as maybe Betty can cure people. We know she cured some of our people right here in Bushwhackers' Place."

"Yes," nodded the widow. "She did, and it do seem strange that withcraft could do anythin' as is real good, don't it?"

Gloss met the visitors at the door and clasped her hands with delight. "Oh, she cried, 'we were all wishin' you would both come over this mornin'.' What d'ye suppose we're doin', Mary Ann?"

"That's easy to see," returned the widow, sniffing the appetizing atmosphere. "If them ain't cookies you are bakin', I don't know coodles or bakin'."

bakin'. Dear bakes, if there ain't the sweet little woman herself!"

She crossed the room and bent over the widow couch.

"And you got up early, too, deary," she said, taking the thin hand lying on the coverlet in hers, and patting it caressingly. "Goin' to help with the bakin', eh?"

"My, if you'd only heard her bossin' Granny and me around you'd think she was bakin' a hat all right," said Gloss, "and she's that wonderful, Mrs. Ross, bound to use twice as many eggs as are needed, and she won't let us go to use pure lard, think of that!"

"They are contrary," charged the invalid, her eyes resting tenderly on the tall girl who, with sleeves tucked up above the elbows, was cutting disks of dough with a can-top, "but I make them obey, Mrs. Ross—don't I, Granny?"

"Aye, Mary, that you do," smiled old lady, placing a basket of new-cakes on the table. "I'll be a witness to stand in fra lang, for in a wee bit you'll be up an' aroun an' doin' the bakin' yourself." "An' then will do the bakin'," wowed Mrs. Ross.

"We will," cried Gloss, "we'll make her do all the bakin', Granny."

McTavish entered the room carrying a big golden pumpkin in either hand.

"Declare says he wants these pumpkins made according to his own orders," he grinned. "Boy and me had these pumpkins just so's we could have a feed on ma's pies, and Decline has been and got 'em all right, an' all fall intin' mighty broad that we send him a pie when ma makes 'em. I guess three or four won't ramp us."

He piled the pumpkins in the girl's lap and pinched her red cheek.

"Somehow I wish there was time to be a widder as well as a housewife," he teased. "Haven't that a lovely time playin' Zip Coon' weddin' march?"

"Yes, Joe's little Marie is a fine dancer. The old fiddle 'll begin to think this big bush place is gettin' behind the times."

"Mr. Simpson don't take to fiddle-music," observed Mrs. Ross with a sigh.

Ross glanced quickly at Mary Ann, and the eyes of the bush-girls met in a look of mutual understanding.

"Fiddle-juves fiddle-juves," cried Gloss, dropping the long row of brown fragrant cookies on the table and reaching for the old violin. "She plays that fiddle like a cat."

Not many more could be taken, catching up Mary Ann from her chair, and her long arms about the girl.

"My, my," commanded and fiddle-juves, sitting on the girl's lap, and striking up the old tune of "Turkey in the Straw."

In an instant, and down the room the girls flashed, every movement one of grace. The warm blood showed in their cheeks, the wild life in their hair.

McTavish, sitting on the girl's lap, struck up the old tune of "Turkey in the Straw."

McTavish looked at Mary Ann. The girl was smiling and her black eyes were dancing with more than the zest of life. He took the basket from the woman's hand and they passed up the path toward the house.

show boy that it's useless to worry about losing this husband. Nobody can steal it, Ma, believe me; I know."

"Oh, you're you know, Ma!" He arose and hastily left the house.

Widow Ross, in white apron and bare arms, was dissecting one of the golden pumpkins on a block of wood outside.

"And he'll likely have a fine day for his loggin' to-morrow," she remarked as McTavish passed by.

"There'll be quite a crowd there, I bet," returned the man. "I've sort of led 'em all to expect a good feed of custard, widder."

"Oh, you go along, you blunderer," cried Mrs. Ross. "But she cut into the pumpkin with renewed vigor and started to sing:

"Oh, we'll cross the river of Jordan, Hallelujah, hallelujah, hallelujah, Hallelujah in the Lord."

McTavish listened in wonderment, then with a sudden smile he passed on. The woman bade him stay a moment.

"I'm not just sure I done right in dancin' in that 'Scotch four,' she faltered. "Mr. Smythe seems to think dancin' wrong, some's smokin' and spinnin'."

"Humph, well, now, it seems as Smythe's been preachin' quite a lot to you, widder. See him often?"

"Pretty often," answered the widow slowly. "He's been over to my place some three or four times during the last few days. He's a very nice man, and a goodly liver."

McTavish scratched his head and frowned.

"Humph," he nodded, "quite so, widder."

Holland Developing Her Coal Resources

Needs Over Six Million Tons Every Year.

Although an agreement between Holland and Germany provides that the latter is to supply 900,000 tons monthly to Holland, the Dutch government fears Germany may not be able to spare that much fuel now, and has worked out plans to increase Dutch coal production through Dutch mines in German territory near Aix-la-Chapelle, Holland.

Under government management production has increased 100 per cent, while private mines could only increase their output by 50 per cent. It is hoped that within 10 years Holland will be able to supply out her own mines all coal needed—about six and a half million tons per annum.

For years I have never considered my stock of household remedies complete unless a bottle of Minard's Liniment was included. For burns, bruises, sprains, frostbites or chilblains it excels, and I know of no better remedy for a severe cold in the head, or that will give more immediate relief than to breathe from the bottle through the nasal organ.

And as my supply of veterinary remedies it is essential, as it has in very many instances proven its value. A recent experience in reclaiming what was supposed to be a lost section of a valuable cow udder has again demonstrated its great worth and prompts me to recommend it in the highest terms to all who have a herd of cows, large or small. I think I am safe in saying among all the patent medicines there is none that covers as large a field of usefulness as does Minard's Liniment. A real treasure for man or beast.

When Coal Fires Were Illegal

Nobility in Thirteenth Century Objected to Smoke Nuisance.

Coal has not always been so valuable an commodity as it is to-day. In the early days of the industry there was a violent prejudice against coal in many quarters, and the miners were often compelled to down tools against their will.

Henry III., in the thirteenth century, began by giving the people of Newcastle the Royal permission to sell the new fuel and the manufacturers of the time immediately adopted it. But the nobility of the country-side made so many complaints about the "smoke nuisance" that the King withdrew his permission.

One of his successors, however, not many years later, restored the old rights to Newcastle, and also granted permission to the Derbyshire coalfields to begin work, but the fortunes of the trade varied from reign to reign.

Even Queen Elizabeth, so broad-minded in many things, could not get rid of the idea that coal was bad for the health of the country, and whenever the M.P.s came up to London for the sittings of Parliament no one in the city was permitted to light a coal fire.

An extraordinary dry fog extended over Europe and part of Asia in 1283.

Former Kaiser Enjoys Freedom of Doorn

Dutch Government Relaxing Restrictions Placed on German Emperor.

The severe restrictions which the Dutch Government imposed on the movements of the former German Emperor at the time of the Kapp revolution in Berlin, at the request of the Allied Powers, appear to be gradually relaxing.

William now moves about more freely perhaps than at any time since he came to Holland nearly two years ago. These movements are, of course, confined to the territorial limits set by a royal decree, including the villages of Doorn and Amerongen, but inside this territory the exile is now finding his dream of living the life of a Dutch country gentleman.

He goes frequently to Amerongen, to visit Count Beninck, his former host, and to chat with the notary, Schreier, who is not only his former Emperor's business agent and attorney, but also more or less of a personal friend.

William also calls on a number of families of the Dutch nobility who lives around Doorn and Amerongen; principally those whose heads belong to the Knights of St. John, the order of which, as King of Prussia, the German Emperor was leader.

Dutch guards escort him on these trips but he goes whenever he likes. Doorn has lost all curiosity in the Hohenzollerns, and only the occasional tourist halts to stare at William's automobile as it passes in the streets.

Expression of Loyalty.

An expression of appreciation on behalf of King George to the message of loyalty sent him recently by the Army and Navy Veterans' Association of Canada has been received by Arthur E. Shaden, private secretary to the governor-general, who in turn has forwarded it to R. C. Irving, Dominion secretary of the association. The message to the King was despatched during the course of the annual convention held at Winnipeg.

Aviators Cut Fire Losses.

Fire losses in the forest reserves of Alberta are expected to be greatly decreased this season owing to the splendid work accomplished by the aeroplane forest patrol operating from Morley, is the opinion of a member of the department. Since the airman started their work, they have been able to spot out a number of fires and by notifying the rangers, the fires were extinguished before any appreciable damage was done.

How Much to Marry Upon.

Out in Indiana a justice of the peace, who specializes in marrying, said a salary of $10 a week was enough for a couple to marry upon. The pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal Church thinks different, saying the salary should be at least $900 a year. Three other married men said to one should marry on less than $50 a week, and a woman who was interviewed warned young couples it always would require $10 to $15 a week more than they estimated they needed to live.

Alberta Exhibits

Preparations Being Made, for the International Livestock Show at Chicago.

The agricultural and mineral resources of the province of Alberta will be demonstrated in a practical manner at the International Livestock show to be held at Chicago next month.

Grains, grasses, coal, oils and other specimens of the provincial resources are now being collected and will be exhibited under the personal direction of the Alberta Minister of Agriculture. The quality of the livestock raised will also be well demonstrated and it is expected that the exhibits from the western prairie province will bring back many coveted ribbons from the international.

A novel method has been followed in preparing the stock for the exhibition. The young animals were all procured by well-known Alberta cattle breeders to the Agricultural Department of the provincial university. The university has been preparing and feeding this prize stock and is itself making all arrangements for their competition with the best that the United States can produce.

A Boon for the Bilious.—The liver is a very sensitive organ and easily deranged. When this occurs there is undue secretion of bile and the acid fluid flows into the stomach and sours it. It is a most distressing ailment, and many are prone to it. In this condition a man finds a reliable remedy in Parson's Vegetable Pills, which will speedily correct the disorder.

Where Scenery Runs Riot

Pick Flowers in December at the Pacific Coast.

How would you like to pick flowers from your garden in December? Well, you can at the Pacific Coast in a climate so mild and temperate that it keeps you guessing when fall ends and winter begins; where scenery runs riot and golf is played on the finest green courses every day in the year; where you may hunt, fish, boat, ride or motor on ready winding paths towering mountains, rivers and lakes with ever changing scenery.

Rent a beautiful bungalow for the season or stay at one of both of the magnificent hotels, the Hotel Vancouver of that city or the Empress Hotel in Victoria.

Viewing the majestic Canadian Rockies from an observation car on either of the two beautifully appointed daily Canadian Pacific trains on this line is a sight that refreshes and leaves memories for years to come.

Illustrated literature and particulars will be gladly given by any Canadian Pacific Representative.

Wilhelm's Refuge

Ex-Kaiser's Flight Into German Was Pre-Arranged, Says Herman Officer.

The often repeated and often denied statement that the former German Emperor William came to Holland with the pre-arranged consent of the Dutch Queen, Wilhelmina, is now made by one of the German officers, Lieut. Count Dr. Moltke, who said he himself accompanied the Emperor from Spa to Amerongen.

Moltke's article in the Journal of the National Fund of German soldiers, republished in the Dutch press, says that the Dutch Consul in Brussels, advised his Government, on the night of November 10, 1918, of Wilhelm's plans and the Emperor, by telegraph, asked permission of the Queen to enter her country.

On arrival in Holland, William was informed that the Queen had put Buitkens Castle, at his disposal, asserts Moltke.

Steel Works For Manitoba.

A new era in the manufacturing of steel in Canada was introduced with the opening of the new open earth furnaces at Selkirk, by the Manitoba Rolling Mill Company. The new furnace has a capacity of from sixty to ninety tons of steel per day, and additions will be made as business warrants them.

Steeled By Screws.

Its rudder disabled by a storm, the steamship "Vancouver" was navigated for the last 1,600 miles of the way from Bermuda to Queenstown, Ireland, recently, by means of its twin screws.

Navigation of Rhine Extended.

Swiss engineers have perfected the plans for extending navigation of the Rhine from a point twelve miles above Basel to Lake Constance by using locks from which hydro-electric power will be obtained.

Smuts is Praised

His Action in Bringing About a
Union of the Parties in South Africa Praised.

The London Times says that General Smuts' patriotism and wisdom and that of the Dutch-speaking people who call him leader, has saved South Africa from the dark certainty of a civil war. They made attempts at reconciliation with Herizog and the Nationalists, but always on the stern condition of no compromise with Nationalism, which the Nationalists would not concede. General Smuts has now made an appeal to all South Africans who believe in racial unity to reject Republicanism, which appeal has been enthusiastically received by his own and the South African party and also by Unionists which represents almost wholly the English-speaking South Africans led by Sir Thomas Smart.

The new party to be formed may involve the complete disappearance of the Unionists. Both component parts of the new party, says the Times, make a costly sacrifice, namely Smuts' and his party, that of a formidable breach with men of their own race, and Smart and the Unionists that of the identity of their party with all its traditions and proper pride. Both will have the abiding consolation of the knowledge that devotion to their country's welfare is worth infinitely more than racial ties or party triumphs.

WHY ANAEMIA PREVAILS

The Strenuous Conditions of Life
To-day Are Responsible.

Mothers who remark that girls to-day are more prone to anaemia than the girls of a generation ago, should look back at the surroundings in which they and their companions lived. They would easily see the reason in life's altered circumstances to-day.

Now the school-girl's life is more strenuous; her more numerous studies are a severe tax upon her strength. After girls enter boarding schools after leaving school at an age when they most need rest and outdoor life. Their womanly development is hampered by the stresses of working hours, hurried and often scanty meals. Girls are more liable to anaemia, the cure for which is found in the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

When your daughter's strength fails and her health suffers, remember that you can make her well and assure her healthy development by giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to make good red blood. Remember, too, that for women of all ages Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are especially helpful in the many ailments that result from watery blood. They make women and girls well and keep them well. This is amply proved by the case of Mrs. Eva MacKinnon, Glamis, Ont., who says: "As a school girl I grew very pale and would take dizzy spells and sometimes vomiting. My condition was such that I was not able to attend school regularly, and my mother was very much worried about my condition. Finally she decided to give me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I took these for a considerable time, gradually gaining strength until I was perfectly well. It is some years since I took the pills and I have enjoyed the best of health, and am certain that my mother will find new health if they give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail for 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada's Position Good.

Basically, Canada's commercial position is a sound one and general business is far from being bad. The money actually realized from large crops is having a beneficial effect. The labor situation appears for the most part to be very much improved, states a report recently issued by the Royal Bank of Canada.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness, that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE gets through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound on imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. It is cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. All Druggists 75c. HOME-MADE BREAD

Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with

If you are one of Asthma's many victims try Dr. J. D. Kellogg's without delay.

Shepherds Who Walk On Stilts.

In the sheep-raising lands of the South of France, in the shade of the snow-capped Pyrenees, shepherds of large flocks are accustomed to walk on stilts to increase their range of vision over their charges. The stilts are convenient as they insure dryness when tending streams. These shepherds also wear sheepskin coats, and were it not for their great height would be hardly distinguishable from the sheep, when seen at a distance.

Changing Seed

Experiments Show Plan Has Nothing
To Recommend It.

Many farmers still think it advisable to change their seed grain every two or three years. In the light of the work done by the various experimental farms of Canada, this practice has nothing to recommend it, while on the contrary, it has been shown that there are distinct advantages in not changing seed. By the use of a good fanning-mill it is quite possible to grow the same grain year after year on the same farm and maintain its productivity, provided that the grain is seeded early each season on well-drained, fertile soil. The seed should not be blamed for poor farming, which is most frequently the cause of the farmers' dissatisfaction.

THE RED CROSS
APPEALS TO YOU FOR HELP
TO COMBAT
WORLD THREATENING DISEASE
AND TO
SAVE THE CHILDREN
IN WAR STRICKEN EUROPE

Herbert Hoover says: "Our problem over the forth coming winter appears to be the care of about 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 children. These children are the obligation of every man, woman and child in the Western Hemisphere, for we have suffered less, but beyond this they are a charge on the heart of the whole world."

Help in this humane duty by bringing or sending your subscription to your nearest local branch or to Headquarters, Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, O'Sullivan Block, Calgary, on Armistice Day, or week following.

$10 Will Save a Child; $1.00 Will Give It "Saving Food" for a Month.

EUROPE'S TRIANGLE OF SUFFERING

At the earnest request of the Canadian Red Cross, Mr. Herbert Hoover, Director-General of Relief for Europe, on behalf of the Allied Nations, came to Canada to launch the appeal on behalf of the British Empire War Relief Fund. That fund is being raised throughout the British Empire to combat disease and distress in Europe. The Canadian Red Cross through all its provincial divisions, will make the appeal in Armistice week.

Mr. Hoover, who is recognized as the best authority in the world upon European conditions, spoke with the quiet conviction of one whose message was sufficient in itself. In commencing he said he felt some embarrassment lest his presence in Canada might be misinterpreted as urging the Canadian people to further sacrifice. He said he realized that the sacrifice of the Canadian people individual by individual, had been far in excess of his own people, but he said he knew that the charity of the Canadian heart was inexhaustible, and he felt there would be no resentment against his coming to discuss with them the problem that confronts the western hemisphere towards the east.

THE GREATEST PROBLEM.
"To me," Mr. Hoover said, "the greatest problem of the human race in the world today is this problem of a myriad of waifs and orphan hungry children through Eastern and Central Europe. The slaughter of fifteen million men could not but have left millions of helpless hungry children in its tracks, and upon their well-being must depend the rebuilding of Europe. There are literally millions of children in those countries sunk so low in destitution, that they cannot be absorbed. They must receive extraordinary assistance.

$3.00 SAVES A CHILD.
"We have found by experience that the cost of caring for a waif child is approximately $3.00 a month; that of the supplies that are required by imports about $1.0 is needed, and therefore the dollar that we provide together with local support practically preserves the life of one child. It is not much of a sum—one dollar per month per child—and although the calls may be very considerable upon your people and upon ours, we still have something after we have cared for our children and our neighbor's children.

A WORLD PROBLEM.
"Our present problem over the forthcoming winter appears to be about four million children. We feel that if we could find among all the nations four millions per month, we could solve this problem. Surely it is not much for a whole world to find. It is a heavy burden for charity, but it is so appealing in its necessity that I have no doubt that charity will find it. These children are the obligation of every man and woman in the Western Hemisphere, for we have suffered less, but beyond this they are a charge on the heart of the entire world. If we are to preserve the foundations for the future stability of Europe, if we are to keep open the love for humanity, our duty is clear before us."

Auction Sale School Lands

(Viking News)

The auction sale of school lands held by the dominion government drew a large crowd to town Monday. Several auto loads of buyers from Bruce, Kinsella, Jarrold and Irma were in attendance besides local farmers and residents of the district. The sale began at 10 o'clock in McLeod's hall and continued late in the afternoon. The parcels of land sold for ten to thirty five dollars an acre. The auctioneer announced that this would probably be the last chance to get school lands at auction sale. A staff of government employees and two mounted police were in the party. While several sections were sold, a great portion of the lands offered did not go under the hammer. The next sale is at Leduc today.

VIKING

Some of the young ladies of the community are getting up another leap year dance and the date for the big event is Friday, November 26th. The ladies will be taxed two dollars each to defray expenses, while all the gents will be admitted free. Everybody is extended a cordial invitation to come.

Frank-Dorman has bought the Jas. McDonald dray business and took over the line on Monday. "Mac" is taking a well earned rest and has no plans for the future as yet. Frank is an industrious young man who has lived in this district for several years and no doubt will make as good a dray man as "Mac"—and maybe better.—which would be going some.

Mr. Duncan Stewart, a well known and respected resident, died at his home twelve miles north of Viking on the morning of November 18th, after an illness of a year's duration. The deceased was born on the Robt Stewart homestead six miles from Renfrew, Ont., November 16th, 1848, thus lacking eight days of being 77 years of age. In the year 1880, he was married to Lily Stewart, of Renfrew, Ont. They then went south to Kansas and Oklahoma and remained there 27 years, then coming to Alberta in the year 1907, where they resided until Mr. Stewart's death.

"G.I." IS A JUGGLER HIS GREATEST FEAT

An English gunner writes as follows of his experiences under the eye of the G.I. or Gas Instructor: During the time it pleased Providence and the Army Council to keep me in the Royal Garrison Artillery I saw and endured many drills, but I have not experienced any drilling like the drilling of the G.I. He doesn't drill, he juggles. He juggles with gas-masks and box respirators, and when he is tired of juggling he conjures. He produces helmets from different parts of his person, snatches respirators from the air, dangles them, folds them, and makes them disappear with the speed of light. He holds a helmet in his hand, a turn of the wrist and "they presto!" It is a respirator with tubes and eye-lenses complete.

His piece of resistance is the disappearing trick, when at the word of command his voice is lost inside the folds of a flannellette helmet. Only those who have heard his voice can appreciate the wonderful, almost miraculous nature of the feat. Personally I would have laid a heavy wager that nothing short of a ship's boiler would have contained that voice, but to myself I have heard it muffled behind a porous, impregnated fabric. The voice articulated had gone, but the soul of the voice remained, and was evident in the mighty gas and volcanic rumblings that came through the rubber valve.

INDIAN OFFICIALDOM

Blame for Mesopotamian Troubles Laid at Its Door

Commander Wedgwood's separate report on Mesopotamia was mainly criticism of the Indian bureaucracy. He says: "Throughout Lord Hardinge's tenure of office the Government of India showed little desire to help and some desire actually to obstruct the successful prosecution of the war." There is also brought out the unsympathetic Indian official attitude to Territorials, whom they regarded as rivals to combat with Indians, their slowness in developing munitions work in India, and their long tolerance of Germans in their midst.

Light is thrown on the "economics" under the regime of Sir William Meyer, the finance member of the Council of India, who boasted during the war of an actual reduction of military expenditure. One of the "economics" was the refusal to build a railway in Mesopotamia as it would not be "at all so remunerative as is at present represented."

The Commissioners point out the amazing growth in the system by which communications between London and India have become more and more "private" telegrams and not official. All the copies of these private telegrams to India, including the Secretary for India, have the right apparently to demand money and can neither read nor write. When he was bringing up his family he earned only $4.25 a week, but the children went gleaming and he thrashed the corn they got and took it to the mill.

"Every night my last thought is of our brave boys at the front," he tells everybody, and he hopes he will see the end of the war, and as grand a victory as Waterloo, for the celebration of which he was born too late, though he remembers many friends who fought in that battle."

100 YEARS IN VILLAGE

Centenarian's War Work and Hope of Victory

When Mr. Thomas Weekes, of Ticehurst, a village on the borders of Kent and Sussex, celebrated his 100th birthday in 1917, a newspaper said: He is straight and strong, and strides across the village square daily to his tenor allotment, where he requires no help. "I am doing my bit for the food supply," he boasts. He has lived in the village all his life, and in his present cottage 57 years. He worked 50 years for the Dandeney family at Weddis Farm, and 18 years for Mr. Powell at Quedley Farm, both on the Fashley estate. Starting work at seven years old, he was never at school, and can neither read nor write. When he was bringing up his family he earned only $4.25 a week, but the children went gleaming and he thrashed the corn they got and took it to the mill.

"Every night my last thought is of our brave boys at the front," he tells everybody, and he hopes he will see the end of the war, and as grand a victory as Waterloo, for the celebration of which he was born too late, though he remembers many friends who fought in that battle."

Is the League Dead?

The Republican party having scored an overwhelming victory in the United States Presidential elections on a platform of opposition to the League of Nations, the big republic that the League is dead.

Speaking on the night of the election when it became apparent that the Republicans had swept the country, Senator Borah, of Idaho, a strong opponent of the League, declared that he regarded the election "as the triumph of nationalism and the death of the League of Nations." Two days later, on November 4, in his first speech as President-elect, Senator Harding said "the Versailles League of Nations is now deceased."

Do these prominent American politicians really believe that because the United States disapproves of the covenant of the League, and refuses to become a party of it, that, therefore, all the other nations of the world will abandon the League? Surely not. Some forty nations have already joined the League of Nations entered into an offensive and defensive alliance, while another group entered into a similar arrangement, the natural and inevitable result being that each group sought to outdo the other in the piling up of armaments, and the tax-burdened people of each were made to bear the load upon the specious plea that it was necessary that they should maintain great armies, and because the others were doing so.

The League of Nations was designed to protect all to provide a guarantee of peace should any one nation seek to act aggressively and unjustly against another. There is nothing aggressive about the League; it is purely defensive—a policeman of the world. And it is inconceivable that the nations of the world will "scrap" this institution of mutual protection merely because the United States decides to stay out of this common world brotherhood.

Undoubtedly, the covenant of the League is not perfect. How could it be expected to be arrived at, as it was, during the heat of aroused war-time passions. But no human legislation or institution set up by mere man is perfect, and certainly not in its initial stages. There was never an Act of Parliament or Congress passed that did not later call for amendment in the light of actual experience. The League covenant is not like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unchangeable. It will be altered and improved and strengthened as the years pass. But it provides common ground upon which all nations and peoples can meet, and through goodwill and co-operation it can be extended and bettered.

The recent election in the United States may mean that the League is dead so far as that country itself is concerned, although even that is doubtful. Fought for over one hundred years that they should have no entangling alliances with, or take part in the quarrels of European nations, the American Government and people strove mightily to keep out of the Great War. But the world today with its wireless, airplanes, submarines and so many time and distance annihilating devices, is not the world of George Washington's time. No nation can live unto itself alone, and this the United States was finally forced to admit by its entry into the war.

The American people may still desire to keep aloof and free from the difficulties of the Old World, and decline to accept responsibility for the order and good government of the world at large, but they will discover sooner or later that such isolation is not possible. As a great creditor nation, with Europe owing it many billions of dollars, the United States is deeply concerned in the restoration of peace and order in Europe and in the maintenance of peace there. Removed though it be by some thousands of miles of sea from Europe, the Great War disclosed the fact that the oceans of the world do not constitute an impenetrable defence. In the days of small and slow-going ocean vessels, the United States could afford to ignore war-like preparations in Europe. It can do so no longer. Furthermore, as a nation engaged in trade and commerce all over the world, the United States, and every interest in that country, is vitally concerned in the establishment and maintenance of stable political conditions everywhere.

The League of Nations is not dead. Certainly, no party election in the United States can kill it. Its form may change with the passage of time, but the principles upon which it is founded must live if this old world is not again to be plunged into the unspeakable horrors of universal warfare on an even more gigantic and destructive scale than prevailed between August, 1914, and November, 1918.

In Maidenhood, Womanhood and Motherhood

LONDON, Ont.—"For many years Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been my most favorite medicine. I have taken it for the ailments pertaining to womanhood and before and after motherhood, and it always proved excellent. I have also recommended it to many friends, and have taken it with good results. It is the best medicine I know of today for women or girls who are weak and suffering."—MRS. WM. STEEL, 179 Richmond St.

SAVED HER LIFE

St. Catharines, Ont.—"I was in a very miserable condition when I first started taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription sixteen years ago. I suffered and was extremely emaciated and weak. Although I was a young woman my doctor thought I was going through the critical stage of life, but after taking these remedies my strength returned, another child came from that time on my health was perfect and my weight increased. I really believe that Dr. Pierce's remedies saved my life and I shall always praise them as long as I live."—MRS. ELIZABETH HORTON, 43 Beach St.

Favorite Prescription should be the full confidence of every woman in Canada because it contains no alcohol and is non-narcotic. Dr. Pierce knew that when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine were injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Send for Dr. Pierce's Wonderful Book, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package Tablets.

Germany's Long Range Guns Have Vanished

Believed to Have Been Blown Up and Plans Hidden.

Where are the long range German guns which started the world one day in March, 1918, by dropping shells into Paris from a distance of 75 miles? This is a question the international commission for the disarmament of Germany would like to have answered. Not a trace of these long tubes or of the drawings for their construction is reported to have been found. The guns and everything connected with them have disappeared as mysteriously as they appeared. It is believed they were blown up, but the blue-prints and plans have been hidden where none will find them.

Education and Wealth.

When one considers that the increase of economic wealth, which is industrial production, can in the last analysis only be provided for by the growth of intellectual capacity, which is education, the realization must follow that eventually, and at no very distant time, the teaching profession will regain its rightful prestige, and will be free from many of its temporary handicaps.—President Hopkins, Dartmouth College.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colic and make baby happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Manitoba Drainage System 3,200,000 Acres of Swamp Land Brought Under Cultivation.

Since the inauguration of the drainage schemes in Manitoba approximately 3,200,000 acres of land have been brought under cultivation. This land was formerly useless from an agricultural standpoint. Fifty miles of dredge channels have been constructed, this year, costing $140,000. Thirty miles of these channels are in the Sparling district, and 20 miles in Morris municipality, Southern Manitoba. They are constructed to take care of flood waters in the spring and also for draining marshes, and will assist materially in bringing waste land under cultivation. In the Sparling district alone 72 sections of land have been made available for cultivation. Cultivated land is relieved from the danger of spring flood.

Miller's Worm Powders seldom fail. They immediately attack the worms and expel them from the system. They are complete in themselves, not only as a worm destroyer, but as a highly beneficial medicine for children, correcting weak digestion and restoring the debilitated system to healthfulness, without which the growth of the child will be retarded and its constitution weakened.

Increase in Revenue.
The revenue from the Department of Lands and Forests for Ontario will amount to three-quarters of a million dollars more this year than last. The amount of last year's revenue was $1,992,000.

Successful men owe most of their success to the opposition they meet with.

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michenoff, an authority on early old age, says that this "caused by poison generated in the intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is without forming noxious matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Eggs" Syrup after meals makes your digestion sound.

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.

Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was 17. I am a child's nurse, and I was so laid at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps, and feel as if I have saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women, and I am very glad to recommend the medicine."—JEAN KENT, 42 Blanford Ave., Toronto, Ont.
Girls who are troubled as Miss Kent was should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who need special advice may write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. These letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

From the Diary of A Hudson's Bay Clerk in the Seventies

By O-G-E-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

Making an early start next morning and taking along Pat's traps, we again made for the creeks. We took our canoe at the mouth and struck up stream. An hour's steady tramping brought us to a beaver dam only roughly constructed; a little further on another dam slightly better made, and above these a splendid dam, the water in a lake of water. Evidently the two first dams were only intended to relieve the pressure of high water on the principal one. At the far end of the lake were three large beaver lodges, with hard beaten trails on all sides and trees fallen in every direction, many of these being cut up in short lengths. There were piles of chips and every evidence of busy industry. Patrick's face was a sight, as he estimated there were from forty to fifty or even more beavers resident, and as he had a big debt with the H. B. Company, here was the means to pay it and also the choicest of food for the wild little ones.

Walking round the lake very quietly, we selected two good stands for watching that evening, as beavers seldom come out before dusk. Then, after a hasty lunch we went further up the stream setting traps in the most likely places. Returning to the beaver village about sundown we very noiselessly took our place and then followed a long wait. We were both armed alike, double barrel guns of the usual H. B. style, 28 bore muzzle loaders with percussion locks. The barrels being extra heavy, making them suitable for either ball or shot, and loaded at the present time with 3 1/2 drachms of powder, 1-2 oz. of shot, a tight fitting wad and a round bullet on top of all. This combination was a very deadly one at close quarters. At last I noticed the water level close in front of my stand, and some ripples followed, again, and once again. Then up burst the head of a large beaver, which I immediately shot behind the ear and it at once sunk in some twelve feet of water. Stripping off my clothes and standing like Don Cupid on the bank, I was about to dive after my game, when Patrick appeared, smiling to say he was unsuccessful. On describing the facts, he told me to dress, and cutting a long dry pole, screwed a gun-worm on the end of it (twisted very well which we carried for extracting wads), and after some prodding began to turn it and then haul in. Joy, here was a large fine beaver, and I commenced to dance with delight as it was my first one. It was now quite dusk and we started for camp on the jog, and hearty was the welcome we received on reaching here, and before long we were enjoying a delicate dish from the choicest parts of the beaver, which, and I speak from experience, is an excellent food indeed, and much shyer than young pork and lamb.

Next day we were to visit the traps and repeat the watching in the evening. The first trap was not disturbed, but in the second was a beaver, which we soon despatched. This trap was set in a tiny stream of the creek, which was very shallow with a stony bed, cut banks about four feet high, lovely soft moss on the bank, with getting infected from the United States. This theory is discounted at the department where it is pointed out that, despite serious outbreaks of foot and mouth disease in the States, not a single case has come over the border. There is a limited privilege whereby cattle may be shipped alive to certain specified places in England if slaughtered within ten days, but this is not sufficient for finishing up the fattening process after loss of weight in transport.

After spending several more successful and pleasant days, and securing sixteen beaver for my share of the hunt, it became time for me to return to duty. The hunting being still very good and Pat doing so well with his traps, I decided to go alone. So one fine morning, after loading my small craft with the fur we had killed, also two beaver untended for the Chief's Cumberland, I shook hands heartily with my late companions who looked sad at the parting. Then stepping cautiously into the canoe, away I went. On reaching the Saskatchewan I had to be extremely careful in navigation as my canoe was loaded to a few inches of the water, also the mighty river was full of drift-wood. I camped that night for the last time beside the mighty river. Well the Chief named it "Kisse setche-wan-Sep-ye" also a swift flowing river, corrupted by the white man to Saskatchewan.

Want Embargo Removed

British Butchers Petition Government to Lift Embargo Against Canadian Cattle.

Ottawa.—Continuous representations are being made to the British Government for the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle, but the replies being received convey little promise of this concession. Forty thousand British butchers recently petitioned the authorities to lift the barrier, but were told that, while Canadian cattle may be all right there is danger from horns getting infected from the United States. This theory is discounted at the department where it is pointed out that, despite serious outbreaks of foot and mouth disease in the States, not a single case has come over the border. There is a limited privilege whereby cattle may be shipped alive to certain specified places in England if slaughtered within ten days, but this is not sufficient for finishing up the fattening process after loss of weight in transport.

Another Political Campaign

Drury and Crerar Will Support Farmers' National Policy.

Winnipeg.—A mass meeting will be held in Winnipeg early in December at which Hon. E. C. Drury, premier of Ontario, and Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the farmers of the west, will speak in support of the new national policy. This will be the beginning of a series of meetings throughout the province of Manitoba to advocate the new policy of the national party, and the campaign will be held under the auspices of the United Farmers of Manitoba. The date of the first meeting will be announced in a few days.

To Make Work Effective

Canada and States Join in Fighting The Whiskey Runners.

Windsor, Ont.—The international boundary line will no longer present a barrier to American and Canadian officers in pursuit of whiskey runners up the Detroit River. Following a conference in Detroit some days ago, it was decided that to make the campaign along the border against runners more effective, an American officer should accompany Canadian license agents in their expeditions and vice versa.

SHORT OF BREATH Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, anxious feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system. Mr. Thomas C. East, Clifford, N.S., writes: "I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn, and resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

Big Immigration Movement

Encouraging Entry Into Canada of Farmers and Farm Laborers.

Winnipeg.—The Ottawa correspondent of the Manitoba Free Press says: It is estimated here that the immigration movement to Canada for the present year will approximate 190,000, the new comers being very largely from Great Britain and the United States.

This total is considered highly satisfactory for the first year post-war, especially in view of the fact that the policy of the department at the present time is to encourage the entry into Canada of farmers, farm laborers and domestics only. The high water mark in Canadian immigration was reached in 1913, when 403,436 persons entered the Dominion.

For the first six months of the present fiscal year a total of 95,005 persons entered the Dominion, an increase of 38 per cent over the movement for the corresponding period last year. In the matter of origin they were divided as follows: British, 52,768; United States, 30,763; other countries, 11,474.

Absolute Prohibition in U.S.

Mashings.—Home brewing was brought actively under the prohibition ban when it was learned that enforcement officials had ruled against the sale of hops and malt to bakers and confectioners. Prohibition officials admitted that the National Act had been construed to mean that the sale of hops and malt as component parts of home made beer was unlawful and must be stopped.

Wage Federal Assistant.

Montreal.—The Herald says that "The Canadian Sugar Refiners are again making representations to the Dominion Government in the hope of securing federal assistance, financial and otherwise, to enable them to meet the unprecedented situation which has arisen in the Canadian sugar trade."

May Now Admit Former Enemy States To League of Nations

Geneva.—Lord Robert Cecil, one of the chief authors of the League of Nations' covenant, who is coming to the assembly of the League as a delegate from South Africa, will support the proposed immediate admission to the league of former enemy states, it is expected here. Italy, Switzerland, the Scandinavian states and some of the South American nations are understood to be favorable to such a plan.

"France, Belgium, Rumania, Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, will resist the admission of Germany and Hungary, although they are not unfavorable to Austria and Bulgaria. There are indications in League circles that the drift toward admission of former enemy countries is strong, and likely to reach the necessary two-thirds of the members, unless a compromise is effected. The sentiment is growing that, whatever may be the merits of the case, the discussion in the assembly is likely to develop a sharp controversy which the leading members of the League desire to avoid. At the first session it is probable the immediate admission of Austria and Bulgaria will be proposed, and an effort made to have action in the case of Germany postponed to another meeting of the assembly, probably in the spring. Attention is being directed to the anomaly of admitting Germany while she is still technically at war with the United States.

May Meet at Ottawa

Meeting of Empire Prime Ministers May Be Held in Canada.

London.—Premier Lloyd George stated in the House of Commons that arrangements had been made to hold a meeting of prime ministers of the empire in June, 1921. It was asked if an undertaking could be given that no decision would be come to regarding such questions as Mesopotamia until the premiers met. Premier Lloyd George replied that such a proceeding would be quite impossible. He said: "The expense, after all, is not on the empire, but on Great Britain."

The premier added that the question of holding the premiers' meeting at Ottawa had been under consideration.

Message from Arctic Explorer

Capt. Amundsen Sends a Telegram That All Is Well.

Copenhagen.—Captain Amundsen, the Arctic explorer, has sent the following telegram to the Earl of Bessborough, from East Cape, Siberia, bearing date of August 13: "We sailed from Nome immediately after my wife's arrival on August 8, with only three men, as the others claimed wages of £300 sterling monthly. The following day we were held up by pack ice in Behring Sea. All aboard well."

The foregoing is the first direct message from Captain Amundsen since he set out on his Polar expedition from Nome, Alaska, in the ship Maud, August 9. Five weeks later information reached Nome that the famous explorer's ship had become wedged in ice twenty miles off Cape Serge, 225 miles northwest of Nome, on the Siberian coast.

Prefers Work In West.

Calgary.—Capt. Evan J. Edwards, imperial trade commissioner to Canada, told Albertans that he found his work easier in the west than any other place. He ascribed this to the breadth of the people and their forthrightness.

Paralyzing Blow is Directed at Sinn Fein Finances

Seizure of Funds is Said to be Crippling Rebel Activities.

Toronto.—A special cable from London to the Toronto Star says: Britain's paralyzing blow at the Sinn Fein is directed at its pocketbook, according to the Irish office today. The office declared there was a marked cessation of Sinn Fein activity following bank raids in which stores and funds were located. Sirs have been taken to choke off the supply of money from America also.

A report of the Sinn Fein Minister of Finance showed £22,607 set apart for the "Self-Determination Fund." It also showed £200,000 (nominally $1,000,000) had been received from America in subscriptions to the Irish Republican Fund. A fund of $2,995,043 was also shown to be on deposit in New York.

Art O'Brien, secretary of the Irish Self-Determination League declared British raiders seized £20,000 from one bank, but that the amount was made good to the Sinn Fein by the banker who had the funds in charge.

Plan Relief Expedition

Will Send Relief to Schooner Ice-bound Off Siberia.

Seattle, Wn.—None, Alaska, residents are planning to send a snow sled relief expedition across the frozen Arctic to the trading schooner Polar Bear which is trapped off the Siberian coast, 225 miles from Nome, according to reports received here. Reindeer will pull the sleds. The Polar Bear has a crew of five men and less than two months' supplies aboard. The boat is believed to be within 50 miles of the schooner Maud, on which Rauld Amundsen, Norwegian explorer, is attempting to reach the North Pole.

Bring Turks to Time

Allies Consider Ultimatum to Force Treaty Ratification.

Paris.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Constantinople says: "As the Turkish government continues to postpone the execution of certain undertakings required by the Allies, notably the ratification of the treaty of Sevres by the Imperial government, the trade and financial aid given the Ottoman treasury will be curtailed. If that measure does not produce results, the delivery of an ultimatum is being considered."

London.—The incorporated society of authors is sending its secretary, G. Herbert Taring, on a mission in connection with questions of copyright to Canada.

Ford

THE Season's Work is drawing to a close, the crops are all harvested and you are able to see the results of your labor. This is the time when you begin to take stock of your worldly goods and to make plans for next year.

You should not delay the purchase of a Ford Car another year. If you look back over this year's work you will be able to see how many hours and days a Ford Car would have saved you, how many long and tedious journeys would have been shortened and how many costly delays would have been avoided.

And when next Thanksgiving Day comes around you will be truly thankful that you invested in a Ford.

It Runs On Kerosine

Electricity for the Farmer.

What is a farmer's time worth? What is he worth an hour? Does he charge his business—the business of farming—with the value of the time he gives to it? And does he know how much time he is giving to executive work and productive labor and how much to non-productive labor? The farmer who is not giving these things a little thought, is not in the front rank of those who are making of farming what it really should be—a business on a business basis.

The average gross income from a farm of one hundred and fifty acres will be something over three thousand dollars and to produce that income between seven thousand and eight thousand hours of productive labor are required. This makes the average productive labor hour worth about 40 cents. To make everyone of these 40 cent hours productive of its share of profit, it is necessary to reduce non-productive labor to the minimum, and in farming as in manufacturing it has been found that the best way to do this is to use labor-saving machinery.

SPORT DOPE

By BUCK

"All entered in good faith and without prejudice"

To one of the largest audiences yet assembled in our Beautiful Irma the women of the Ladies Aid presented a very enjoyable entertainment and are to be praised for their diligent work during the past month in preparing their concert, also the way in which they staged the event.

Mrs. Tripp as President of the Ladies Aid played the part in a very successful manner and handled the members of the society with dexterity worthy of mention.

It seems that the Aid were considering on the purchase of a new piano for the church and were at a loss to know how to purchase such an expensive piece of machinery with $239 in the treasury. All seemed quite certain that it could be done and Mrs. Patterson hinted that they could buy one on the installment plan, one dollar down and a dollar a month. Of course there had to be a little grout to even things up and therefore Mrs. Dickinson and Mrs. Hockin took the part of the kickers and had very little to say only, "We told you so." Things seemed very uncertain toward the purchase of the piano until Mr. Tait, representing the "Jarrov Comet" arrived with the news that his paper was giving away a new piano to the Church that would get the most votes, these votes were earned by the simple clipping of a coupon in each issue of "The Comet." Then the ladies got busy. It seems that Russell Love, the minister's son, was very thick with Mrs. Wyatt, who was a young girl handling a news stand.... but the preacher, Leslie Moore, did not approve of his son going with the girl and because she sold the Sunday Papers.....which the preacher had his mind fastened on as being an act in the desertion of the Sabbath. The ladies felt sure that they could get Mrs. Wyatt to give them all the left over copies of The Comet so that they might clip from them the valuable coupons, but when Russell and Mrs. Wyatt had a little argument about what the old preacher had said regarding her keeping company with his son, the hopes of the ladies seemed shattered, as every church in town was far in the lead.

Things looked pretty uncertain for awhile and it was not until Mrs. Wyatt and Mrs. Tripp attended the supper given by the Uehrs Union that Russell and Mrs. Wyatt got back to an understanding.....caused by a cup of coffee going down Mrs. Wyatt's neck and calling upon Russell to hand out the alibi dope and even at this supper the old preacher came to sit understanding that if Mrs. Wyatt changed her name wouldn't have to sell the papers and that her name wouldn't be the same if she were to accept the persistent callings of Russell.....Mrs. Watkinson was out on a coupon collecting tour and got into some house where a lady had a new dress fresh from the dress maker which interested Mrs. Watkinson so much that she felt that to get the coupon.....but finally after things went on for several minutes, Mrs. Watkinson came in on the double, all out of breath and puffing as if she had run all the way from Wainwright.....and informed the ladies and the excited audience that the piano was theirs. Which news was thankfully received and relieved the intense excitement of the onlookers. Miss McGuire, Miss Murray, Mrs. Marby, Miss Emonds, Miss Fiewelling, Mrs. Mrs. Blakeship, Mr. Marby and E. Fenton were the additional characters and are to be congratulated on the exceptionally fine way in which they handled their each individual part. The musical part of the program was handled by Mrs. Graydon and was enjoyed by the audience.

Don't forget the dance on the 24th; its going to be a regular one.

There was a young man named Dewar Who met a young girl And thought he knew her,
He lifted his hat And she hit him a hat,
And he lit on his ear in a sewer.

The Canadian National Railway is getting to be the subject of all passing jokes. Henry Ford was at one time the cause of quite a few laughs, but the CNR plus the GTP are screaming. What we would like to know is why is it that a public owned railway and, now, the largest transportation company in the world, cannot give us the same service that a privately owned company does? Who's to blame for the "punk" service and the lack of sufficient equipment—who's to blame—that's what we are asking—and is it for the above mentioned "punk" service and lack of equipment that WE pay increased freight rates, passenger rates, and not to mention the many other increased rates. A certain paper, in its news columns publishes an item in regards to the Canadian National borrowing cars from a privately owned company, why not turn the whole dog-gone system over to this private company and better the present condition of affairs by getting "service"?—As we said before and will continue to say until we do get the proper service—"its a great country—the CPR."

Get your fur coat ready—we're getting back to "Canada."

Hark! 'Tis the scream of a woman, that comes tingling to our ears thru the cold frosty air of our fair Irma—she screams again, can it be that the utterer of the unearthly screams is in distress. Again comes the S.O.S. I shall join the crowd of onlookers and ascertain for myself the facts of the case. Oh! the villain has tightly she grasps the fence—and lo! walls of indignation are flung into the air from her vocal organs.

Does he love her—I say he does with an axe—The villain still pursues her and she still hangs on—she will soon be "sans" clothing if something don't happen—Ah! he has her legs; they stagger across the street to a waiting car—Erd Sedan—She, the woman grabs frantically at the fender, she has a good hold—But, alas! the villain has her within his power and throwing her into the back seat of the car—uttering the words—"you are stewed," as he closes the door and climbs into the front seat, grabs the wheel, steps on the starter (thanks to Henry's latest addition) and makes a get away leaving the citizens of Irma, who were lucky enough to view this scene on Main street one day last week, to wonder what it was all about and if she really was stewed. What makes us sure is that one of the big "Movie" syndicates were not present to picture the biggest scene yet presented to the public—it would have been so much more interesting to the people of Irma—knowing, as most of them do, the characters—certainly we have excitement in Irma, but such "excitement" comes few and far between but when it comes it is always worthy of mention, and those whose privilege it was to witness the struggle, not mentioning scandal—will agree, as far as comedy goes, "Charlie Chaplin" is absolutely a back number and even "Harold Lloyd" would be faded.

Don't forget the dances this winter.

The boys at the station got an additional supply of meat for winter when one of the GTP trains ran over, and killed a steer which Mr. Askin was shipping along with several others to market. Its nice to get a nice fresh supply of meat; Hostrip's cow will be getting stale by now.

The first of the series of dances, was held on Friday night last and as usual was a success as far as a good time was concerned but not so much financially—expenses were made and as long as the management can keep above the zero mark, that is all they wish. The rain Thursday night had a tendency to withhold quite a number from attending the first dance but we hope that at future dates they will all be able to join in the fun. Next week the "Popular Lady" Contest is to commence so we hope to see quite a number of folks in attendance as it is going to be interesting. The floor was in good condition on Friday night and Mr. Fuder supplied us with very good music. Mr. Mallinson and his sister gave us an introduction to a new dance and although very few joined in trying to learn it we would like to express the fact that it is such new dances as these, and others that we hope Mr. Mallinson will introduce to us from time to time, that the dancers of Irma and district should try to take part in it. It is quite probable that most of you who attend the dance here and surrounding district have danced the same old dances over and over again, year after year. It is with the view of bringing to you new and up-to-date dances that this Academy was started. If Mr. Mallinson favors us with new steps from time to time we can be assured that they are all good and worth taking note of, so we would ask all our patrons to try and learn these new dances and thereby change his usual program a little. The dances are all clean and minus the "Rag" that so many of the present day, so called dances, contain—DON'T FORGET NOV. 24TH.

A certain business man of Fair Irma received a very irritating letter from a certain gentleman the other day and in reply wrote as follows:

Dear Sir: Your letter at hand and in answer would say that, my stenographer/being a lady, cannot write names, cannot say it and you being neither, will know what I mean. Pretty hot, h?

A little late to say anything about Halloween but it sure was celebrated in Irma. Morning saw the streets well crammed with sundry articles, such as cisterns, drilling outfits, plows, wagons, counters, cream cans, beds and many other things too numerous to mention. The bed looked very inviting and the oil barrel that was reposing upon it looked quite comfortable. The drilling outfit made quite a prominent "Ford Garage" having its location in the centre of Main street and second avenue and was well advertised with the Moore Bros. sign and several cream cans, counter plows, etc..... Boys will be boys and what we want to know is "Who was the Gang..... We heard that several new banks opened up in Wainwright. Some say Good Old Wainwright, but we say—Good old Wainwright.

HOME IN TIME FOR XMAS.

Taking into consideration the time required in going from Western Canada to the Old Country and the desire of providing patronage with the maximum of comfort en route, the Canadian National Railway will on December the 8th, 1920, operate from Winnipeg through to Halifax a special train to the ship's side of the S.S. "Meganitic" which sails from Halifax for Liverpool at 10 A. M. December 12th. This "Family Special" will have tourist and standard sleepers, diner and colonist cars.

The Canadian National Railway are most anxious to reduce all the discomforts of a long journey to the comforts that are found and appreciated in one's own home, and the hope is that this innovation will be so patronized by those returning to the "Old Sod" for Christmas as will decide the Canadian National Railway making this an annual event.

Make your reservations early. Full particulars may be had on application to any agent of the Company or by writing to Mr. J. Madill, District Passenger Agent, Edmonton, Alta. 2tc

ARE THE FARMERS SATISFIED?

The U.F.A. membership drive has fallen flat in this district we are informed. The canvassers report they are meeting with no success whatever and to get the necessary fees is like extracting a bad tooth. With so much in the air about the wheat board, tariff, big business, scarcity of cars, slump in grain prices, high freight rates, poor cattle markets, it seems like the farmers should rally to the cause and give their own best interests their support. All other professions have their organizations, the lawyers, merchants, bankers, printers, blacksmiths, etc., and all pay more than six dollars per year per member, so why shouldn't the farmers and stock raisers support their own organization? The united farmers of Alberta could exert a bigger and better influence in the affairs of the province, and in the nation, if they get behind the men and measures that are working for them. But it takes money to run any organization worthy of the name, and without it there's nothing doing.

Hunt up your local canvasser, slip him the six seeds and plant them in his mitt, and begin to boost. Are the farmers satisfied? They are—in a pig's eye.
